About Open Badge Factory

Open Badge Passport

Make a difference with your Open Badges with the help of Open Badge Passport. OBP provides you a badge repository, badge sharing to web and elsewhere and the opportunity to build portfolio pages with your badges. You can also interact with other users and explore badges from around the world.

Open Badge Factory

Open Badge Factory provides the tools your organisation needs to implement a meaningful and sustainable Open Badges system. Create badges easily and issue them from OBF or another system.

Why do we need selfie badges?

The Mozilla Foundation's original vision

- Open Badges to celebrate and recognize the things I learn anywhere and anytime

- Everyone can be recognized and can recognize with Open Badges

mozilla
FOUNDATION

But

- The majority of badges are currently based on a matching approach. Badge earners are recognised when they match the criteria that the badge creator values and validates.

- This normative and organisation centric approach is not suitable for recognizing "the things I learn anywhere and anytime"

What is the value of a self-claimed badge?

Open Badge Factory

What is the value of a self-claimed badge?

- The badge creator/holder is proactive and can recognize

- Creating one's own badge is a challenging but beneficial reflecting learning process

- A self-claimed badge demonstrates that recognition can be based on endorsements and not only on the validation of the badge creator

- A self-claimed badge enables the recognition of skills and achievements related to individual experience.
